Participants During the Site Visit

Provide a list to the site visit team of individuals to be interviewed during the site visit, this will assist the team with identifying which questions to ask and potentially decrease the amount of time an individual may need to meet with the site visit team. If an individual serves multiple roles with the program, for example, a member of the advisory committee, an employer and a preceptor, then the site visit team can meet with the individual one time instead of three times.

List individuals that will be interviewed		Check each category that applies to the individual
